

BEHAVIORAL SCIENCE

The mission of the Behavioral Science program is to develop graduates who value diversity and embrace the integration of life and learning. We aim to foster a learning environment in which students can understand and apply the core concepts and elements of social science. Building upon existing programs in Criminology and Criminal Justice, Psychology, and Sociology, students are prepared with a broad foundation that emphasizes the analytical and critical thinking skills needed for a broad range of professional careers. The Behavioral Science degree is highly flexible, enabling students to customize their course work in ways that align with their individual career goals and additional academic studies.

BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE This program benefits from the diversity of professional backgrounds of the faculty teaching in the courses, which makes for a richer course experience. Through the Mount's Career and Experiential Learning office, Behavioral Science Majors have access to relevant co-op, Service Learning, and internship opportunities. We have one of the best co-op placement records in the region.

FURTHER YOUR EDUCATION In addition, students may consider pursuing the Mount's 4+1 Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree, or licensure and master's degrees in Early Childhood Education, Special Education, and/or Multi-age Education. The Behavioral Sciences degree can also serve as a springboard for a number of graduate level programs such as criminal justice, sociology, education, counseling, and social work. We also offer related minors in Addiction Studies, Gerontology, Social Work, Socio-Psychology, and Sociology. You may also consider a 3+3 Law Program, finishing your bachelor's degree at the Mount and Juris Doctor at one of our partner schools in six years.
